

Kyle Lawrence had a tough day in the seat finishing 11th overall for the day after qualifying 14th and finishing 12th and 11th in the heats whilst competing against drivers with much more experience. Overall a good days racing was had which would have had better results on paper had he not been helped off the track by some over eager drivers. Kyle is getting to grips with the car and will move higher in the rankings scoring points in every race and consistently finishing heats and improving pace.

The cream for the weekend must be Devin Robertson, Qualifying with 2 pole positions and winning both heats, The racing up front was extremely tight and competitive and although the masters class does not effect the points of the national championship Devin wanted to just show his worth as a driver by fending off the tough advances of Lee Thompson for overall honors and now has a 38 point lead in the championship over Engen Team Driver Kosie Weyers. Devin now has 7 out of 8 pole positions and 7 out of 8 race wins. The positive attitude and pleasure he is getting out of his racing definitely shows in the results this year.

Devin was invited by Michael van Rooyen to drive the Williams Hunt Opel Astra OPC in the production car 2hr endurance race.

Devin's ability to put in consistently fast laps helped the team achieve a class T win for the race and 3rd overall finish ahead of various other class A cars a big Thank you to Micheal and the William Hunt team for the opportunity and hopefully we can join forces on more occasions.

Our trusty Caterers again put on a good spread for all our guests and again a very enjoyable day at the track was had. Big thank you to everybody involved and your assistance goes a long way in keeping the team successful.
